About Yorkville University

The vision of Yorkville University is of a Canadian national university dedicated to providing accessible, practitioner-oriented degree and diploma programs leading to and enhancing professional careers. At Yorkville University, students experience the flexibility needed to earn a degree while balancing other commitments in a supportive, collaborative and interactive learning community.

Honouring Our Heroes

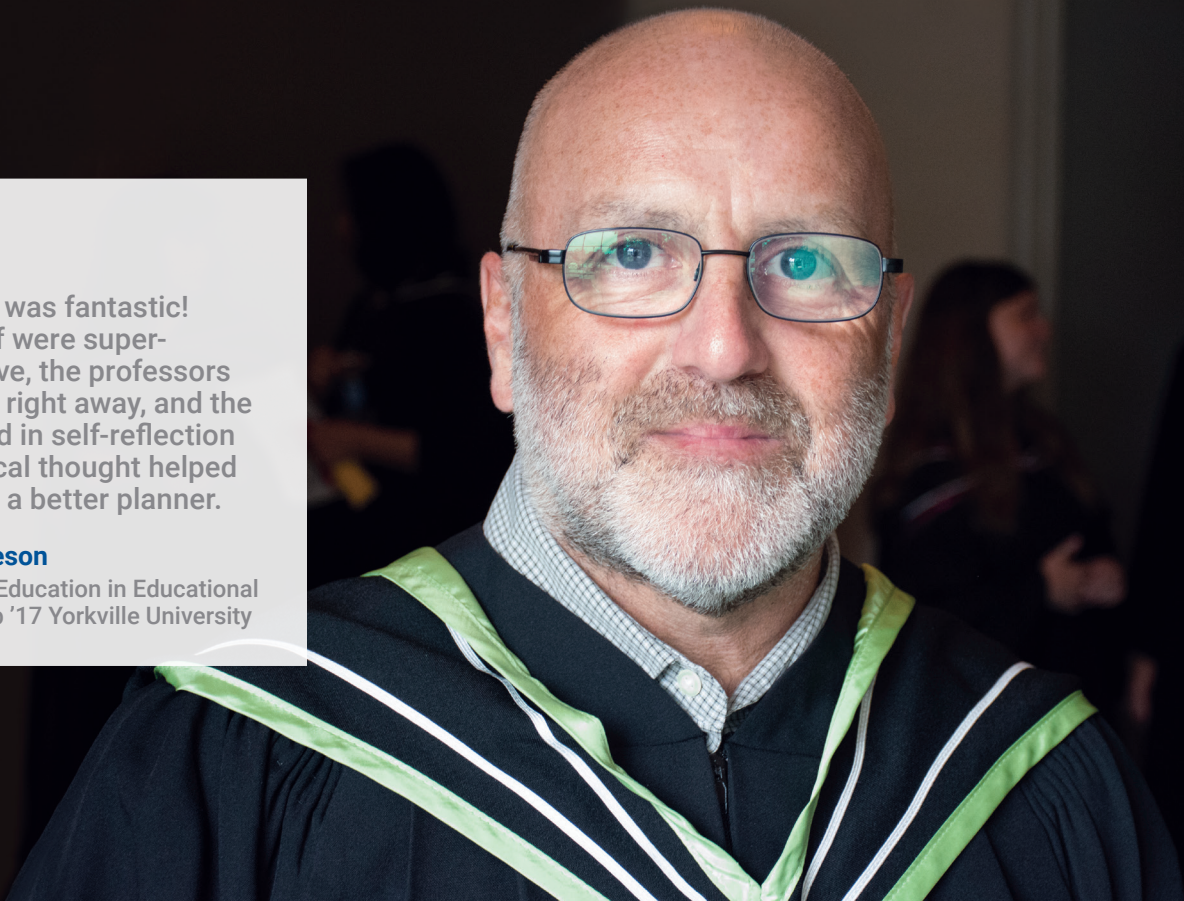

Yorkville University values your service to the country, and the sacrifices made by you and your family. As a means of honouring your efforts, we offer current and former Canadian Forces members and their families the benefits to advance their career or transition to the civilian workforce. You can study full-time or part-time, on-campus in Toronto or Vancouver, or online from anywhere in Canada and around the world.

Yorkville was fantastic! The staff were super-supportive, the professors got back right away, and the work I did in self-reflection and critical thought helped me to be a better planner.

Benefits for Canadian Forces Members and Veterans

We provide unique benefits in areas focused on military services, such as:

Tuition bursary for Canadian forces members

Yorkville University offers a 25% tuition bursary to anyone who is currently serving or has served for more than two years in the Canadian Forces. Anyone currently employed by Military Family Resource Centers is eligible for a 15% tuition bursary. Children and spouses of all those eligible (listed above) are eligible for a 15% tuition bursary.

These bursaries, like all bursaries, cannot be received in conjunction with any other bursaries offered by Yorkville University.

* While common-law relationships and step-parenting relationships will be honoured, proof of spousal relationship will be required. Proof of family connections will be required for all recipients.

 Proof of active service or history of service is required.

University credit for military training

Yorkville University recognizes the training, critical-thinking skills, leadership and real-life experiences of Canadian Forces members. Canadian Forces members applying to Yorkville University are eligible for a significant transfer of credit from military training that is applied towards their BBA. Using the National Advanced Placement and Prior Learning (N-APPL) portal, students are able to have their military credit conveniently assessed, so they can graduate sooner and lower their overall tuition.

Learn more about the N-APPL assessment at <https://www.military-appl.ca/>

Military deployment policy

Canadian Forces members who cannot finish a course* due to deployment can use tuition credits from that course towards future credits without penalty. Also, students unable to finish a course due to deployment will not be assigned a “withdrawn” or “failed” status on the course but will be granted an opportunity to retake the course with a clean transcript.

* Tuition paid for the course(s) will be credited to their next course(s) of study when they return from deployment. The tuition credit will take into account any refunds issued for the impacted course(s).
